ASHLEY DARRYL, NEW YORK

Trademark: I call my style "disciplined eclecticism," because I love to mix periods while keeping everything minimal and not overly decorated. Morning routine: My dad always tells me "look good, feel good, do good," so I try to start my day by dressing in whatever I feel comfortable and confident in. Dream office: My desk faces a large window overlooking Sixth Avenue; the hustle and bustle in the streets makes me excited everyday. Desktop items: A John Derian four-leaf clover paperweight and piles of lined notebooks. Personal stationery: Connor. Mood board: Flower arrangements. I love seeing bouquets with color palettes I may not have put together on my own. Never too many... Plants and flowers. Can't live without... A cozy throw blanket. Guilty pleasure: Compartés chocolate bars and Diptyque candles. Sources of inspiration: Designers Steven Gambrel and Billy Baldwin (I look to their books often) and vintage furniture. On trend: I'm more into designing a home around patterns, colors and décor with longevity.
